

Home Improvement/Interior Design

Maybe it's time to rethink what makes your dream home. Open your heart and mind to the home you've never known and always loved.

Most houses don't offer much emotional support for the home owners. Besides shelter and a place to call "home," think of your home as a reflection of your memories and as a place to live lavishly. Not expensively. Learn to create a home setting where you experience the fullness and beauty of life.

Without spending a lot of money, how do you create a home to support your emotional well-being? Read this book to learn:

- What interior designers don't want you to know
 - What artists and eccentrics know
 - The most important design element
 - The truth about color psychology
 - The secret about wall paint colors
 - Color selection tips
- Quick color psychological associations guide
 - Seven Design Psychology tips
- The TOP secret to your home's interior design

Includes over 100 color pictures of fabulous homes, inside and out, including evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson's Castle in Lake Elsinore and Scotty's Castle in Death Valley, California. Also, see inspirational photos of ancient Greek decorative art.

"Jeanette Fisher fills a gap in what any of us have heard so far about unleashing your own ability to move away from a showcase type of home and design your own peaceful retreat. She even goes so far as to tell you to love the challenge of design without a society designer. Find out why decorating your own home satisfies your soul."
